Dear Sir/Madam:

Please consider me a candidate for the Fellowship cycle 17 at Andela. I was encouraged by a friend who has a high regard for your company, to apply. I have enclosed copies of my resume and transcripts for your review. You will see that I am I'm mostly self-taught. I took clinical medicine in university, dropped out after the second year to focus on programming. I've spent the last six years learning programming and computer science on my own. I don't consider myself an expert yet, but I believe I have potential. I have a need to self-improve, expand my knowledge. I did an android app certification course at Greenbridge School of open Technologies and came top of my class with A+. During my quest for more knowledge, I have been exposed to a number of Software Technologies and concepts which I believe make me better than your average programmer. I designed my first LAN based Chat program way back in 2013 and it can be accessed online as LAN bubbling. Way back in 2014 I ventured into the world of web design where I have been able to design more than 60 websites since, with that I've been able to use REST API, JSON parsing and encoding which I've been able to use in android apps as well. My skills enabled me to be employed by Kampala international university as their IT officer for one year. After which I started developing android apps on completing my certification at Greenbridge .Some of my apps include Petograph Android app which currently has 500+ users Google play and Amazon.

I have developed many android apps since for clients where I have employed many of the concepts required by the job. Some other apps like Tinyword I have developed can be found here
